Summer Loving

Welcome to my third newsletter and a particularly warm welcome to all you lovely readers who have signed up in the last few months! I truly appreciate your support.

Well, in the UK at least, the Covid-19 restrictions have been reducing gradually since I last spoke to you, although to be honest, I'm not particularly inclined to go out much, even though I can now! Particularly while the weather is so warm and we can get out and enjoy the garden. So instead, I've been focussed on writing.

Since the May 2020 newsletter, you might be aware that:

- The 5th instalment of the Daniel Lawson series has been published - yippee! It is called 'Easy Come, Easy Go'. The girl on the cover is Jess (well, in my mind anyway!) -->
- The audio version of 'To Love, Honour and...Oh Pay' has also been released. Please just drop me an email if you'd like an audible.com or audible.co.uk promotion code to listen free.
- 'Black Lace Short Story Compilation - Volume 1' has been released. This includes the short story 'Bad Girls go to Heaven' which has been getting some great reviews!

Work in Progress

As I mentioned previously, I always have multiple new books being written concurrently. This allows me to build the storylines over a number of months which is important, because a lot of inspiration comes to me during my downtime.

The books which I am currently dedicating most of my time to are:

- Three Times Moor Pleasure - My first attempt at a slow-burn reverse harem. My aim is to publish this in late November. Exciting!!!
- The sixth book in the Daniel Lawson Series.
- The follow on novel to 'Difficult to Reach', written under my alternative pen name of Sarah Fennel. Title TBC - As is often true, selecting the title can be the most painful part of the whole process!!

Alongside that, I continue to work on commissions, as well as the structure of other future stories.

Life

Big news! Well, for me at least. In the last couple of months, I've taken a formal break from my "real job" (which I hated!), to try and see if I can make a go of being a full-time author (which I love!). I've set myself a specific target to meet by 2021. If I don't meet it, I will swallow my pride and go back to my old job. If I do meet it, then the drinks are on me, and I'll carry on writing full-time for the foreseeable future.

One way you can really help me in my endeavours, is to leave a review against one of my stories. This helps to give my books more visibility and thus, a better chance of selling. Also, if you leave a comment (rather than just a star rating), no matter how short, your feedback filters through to other Amazon sites. Thanks in advance for your support with this.

The next newsletter will be issued in November, so until then, I hope that you and your families continue to stay safe and well and all the very best to you x

Latest Pre-Order

Apologies for being a bit keen, given that it's only August, but I've recently completed 'Just Another Winter's Tale'. This book will be released in November 2020, just in time to provide you with a cosy winter read, snuggled up under a blanket in front of a roaring fire! Or maybe that's just me...

This is a happy, feel-good erotic romance, designed to put a smile on your face over the festive season, and may or may not contain a rather steamy scene in a tractor!

To find out more, or purchase as a pre-order, please visit Amazon.com or Amazon.co.uk at the links provided x
